HEAD OF ASSYRIAN ORTHODOX CHURCH DIES
Patriarch Ignatius Ephrem I of Antioch, supreme head of the Assyrian Church, died at his patriarchal seat in Homs, Syria at the age of 70.

Patriarch Ephrem was born at Mossoul, Iraq, in 1887. He was elected head of the Church in 1933. As a noted linguist and author, he was a member of the Institute at the University of Chicago and of the Arab Academy in Damascus.

Assyrian Church embraces some 45,000 members in Syria. It is one of the ancient East-Churches represented among Syrians in the U.S. by several parishes.

HONG KONG WOMEN DEMAND END TO POLYGAMY. 10,000 women were reported to signed a petition demanding an end to polygamy among the Chinese population in this colony.

signatures were collected by a women's organization which said they will shortly be pre-to Governor Sir Alexander Grantham.

Mrs. T. Eng, leader of the campaign, said thousands of other women are back of the effort, fear of their husbands are afraid to do so openly. Mrs. Eng explained that many of Hong Kong farmers keep several wives for the express purpose of having them breed for farm labor. She added: 'This custom reduces women to the level of farm impleand breeding animals'.

CREATES SCHOLARSHIP FUND AS TRIBUTE TO PROTESTANT CLERGYMAN.
A Jew, who said he wished to remain anonymous, has established a fund named after a Jewish pastor to send non-Jewish students to the Hebrew University in Jerusalem for two years of study in philosophy, theology or archaeology.

The fund, which totals 30,000 Swiss francs, is named after Rev. Paul Vogt of Grabs in the St.
Gallen, Switzerland. Rev. Vogt is widely known for his work on behalf of refugees and aid to Israel.

Swiss universities will nominate students to benefit from the fund which is to be administered by the donor and Pastor Vogt.

gypsies took part in traditional rites at St. Maries-de-la-Mer.

The 2,000 Protestant gypsies encamped in their caravans and lorries in a huge field. Religious ceremonies included baptism by complete immersion in the River Voisnine.

- The gypsies, in the main, generally adopt the religion of the country in which they live. e.g.- in Greece they are Greek Orthodox, among Mohammedans they are Mohammedans. In Rumania they belong to the National Church, in Hungary they are mostly Catholics. They have no ethical principles and do not recognize the obligations of the Ten Commandments. They are fatalists; they practice witchcraft, specializing in palmistry and fortune telling; their exact origin is not known. - ED.

1,000,000 SCRIPTURES DISTRIBUTED IN GERMANY LAST YEAR. The Association of Evangelical Bible Societies in Germany announced, at their annual meeting in Stade, Germany, that of this number over 200,000 were produced by member societies in the Soviet Zone.

There are now 32 Bible Societies in Germany; largest is 'Priligierte Wuerttembergische Bibelanstalt,' which has circulated more than 37,000,000 Bibles since its founding in 1812.

The secretary-general of the Association, Rev. Samuel Mueller, said the most significant event of last year was the completion of a revised version of Luther's translation of the New Testament. It is expected that the new revision will be put in print shortly. The version that is currently being used was issued more than 60 years ago.

HAILE SELASSIE SENDS GIFTS TO INDIAN CHURCH. An exquisite gold-plated cross was among gifts received by the Syrian Orthodox Church in Cheppad, So. India from the Emperor, who visited the Church last November.

Other gifts included a copy of the Bible in Amharic, the language of Ethiopia, and an ornate set of silver incense urns. The gifts were conveyed to the Rev. I. Daniel, the priest-in-charge of the church, through Esmail M. Kanga, Ethiopian consul in Bombay.

Mr. Kanga said the gifts were sent in token of Emperor Haile Selassie's high regard for the work done by the church in the Cheppad community.

SERBIAN THEOLOGIANS VISITING MOUNT ATHOS. 27 professors and students of the Serbian Orthodox theological faculty left Belgrade for a two week visit to the ancient Serbia.

tery of Chilandarion on Mount Athos in Greece.

will spend most of their time studying old manuscripts in the monastery, which was ed by a Serbian prince, Stephen Nemanya, in 1198. The group will also visit monasteries unt Athos belonging to the Orthodox Church in Greece.

lating from A.Riley's account in his work on 'Athos', he tells a tale, worth recounting r interests sake: 'my eye caught a fresco....representing St. Christopher....child on the oulder and pine tree in hand, except that instead of an ordinary head, the artist had givhim the head of a dog with two great tusks sticking out of his jaws.....I called the monks d asked what made them give St. Christopher such a monstrous head.

on't you know, said they, that St. Christopher had a dog's head? No, replied I, we have o such tradition in the West.....Oh, yes, replied they, he had a dog's head and tusks;
u will see one of his tusks at the second monastery from here, and it has a fine smell.

nd sure enough we did see the tusk at St. Dionysius, and it had a fine smell.' p.207.

K CHURCH ISSUES ENCYCLICAL AGAINST OBSCENE PUBLICATION. The Holy of the Orthodox Church in Greece issued an encyclical letter instructing bishops thru-e country 'to urge priests and teachers to discourage their faithful, especially teen-
, from reading the obscene publication, Ktypokardi'.

ncyclical said it was particularly important that police and judicial authorities cooperate matter.

result of the protests by Church officials, the editors of the illustrated weekly were send in court to five months imprisonment and ordered to pay a fine of $1,460. The publica-as not banned or suspended, however.

kardi began publication a few months ago and already has a large circulation, especially

ANIAN & SERBIAN PATRIARCHS SIGN DECLARATION OF COOPERATION. The patriarchs, Justinian of Romania and Vikentije of Serbia, signed the pact as a pledge to r relations - continued mutual meetings - exchange program for publications, students, ssors and experiences. The Patriarchs stated that the two Churches should increase work at promoting world peace 'on the basis of Christ's teaching'. They also pledged ive to create closer relations between their two countries.

arch Justinian was on a ten day visit to Belgrade, Serbia as the official head of a nine delegation of the Romanian Orthodox Church. The delegation had been invited there by the Serbian Orthodox Church. Included in his party were Metropolitans Justin of Moldavia, Firmilian of Oltenia and Vassili of Banat; three bishops; and Rev. John Koman, rector of the Bucharest Theological Institute.

President Tito awarded high Yugoslav decorations to each of the delegation members. The awards were presented by Vice-president Alexander Rankovic at a special reception. The decorations were those of the Order of Yugoslav Banner, 1st, 2nd and 3rd Class.

Included in the visit was a four-day automobile tour of Serbia.

Before the delegation left for home, it was announced that Patriarch Vikentije had accepted an invitation for a Serbian Orthodox Church delegation to visit Romania next year.

SERBIAN BISHOPS APPROVE MACEDONIAN AGREEMENT. Approval was reached by the Holy Synod of Serbia and the Macedonian unit of the government-backed Association of Orthodox Priests for final acceptance of the use of the Macedonian language in sermons and church administration, as well as the omission of the word 'Serbian' in the Church's title. The Macedonian Orthodox, for their part, agreed to recognize the supreme spiritual authority of the Belgrade Patriarchate.

The conference, presided over by Patriarch Vikentije, also accepted the condition that only Macedonians be elected to bishoprics in Macedonia. However, it concluded its sessions without naming bishops for the three vacant Macedonian Sees which have been vacant since the war. The reason given was that the candidates proposed by the Macedonians were not regarded as suitable.

One of the over-all impressions of the bishops' meeting was the lack of any apparent friction at this time between the Church and the Communist government. In previous years, for instance, the bishops had always refused to give any official blessing to the pro-government priest organization. This year, by the fact that the Macedonian question was settled, showed a recognition of the group.

Part of this change of attitude might be explained by a recent speech given by Patriarch Vikentije, at which Vice-president Rankovic and other government officials were present. The Patriarch said the Church was grateful to the government for its 'moral and material' help in maintaining links with other Orthodox Churches abroad; he also stated: 'We deeply esteem the aid given to us and will endeavor to do our share in the development and strengthening reciprocal feeling, President Tito stated on his 65th birthday that the Serbian Church had in a 'positive role' in banishing religious hatred in Yugoslavia. 'Religious division has most ceased to be felt in Yugoslavia, though it once used to be the source of chauvinistic ed', he said. 'In this respect, we must be satisfied especially that our Orthodox priesthas played a positive role'. In an apparent slap at Rome, Marshall Tito added that there are certain elements inspired from abroad...(that are)...skillfully trying to create a and provoke doubts in our national unity'.

Perhaps still another reason for the moderation in attitude of the bishops towards the priests' Association is shown in the fact that 81% of the total clergy in the Serbian Church already belong to the official organization, as compared to 76% last year. There are a total of 1,760 priests in the Serbian Orthodox Church. It is anticipated by some that the bishops will have yielded to pressure and accord open recognition to the Priests' Association.

RUSS SLACKEN PRESS ATTACK.

The Press demands that the Ecumenical Patriarchate removed from Istanbul have let up to considerable degree. The view that the ouster of the Patriarchate might have unfavorable consequences for Turkey appears to be the basis for change of attitude.

The Press agitation appears to have resulted from the trouble on Cyprus, plus the age-old division between Greek and Turk (Moslem v.Christian).

Observers from Istanbul gave the following reasons as being responsible for the slackening of Press attacks:

1. The dignified attitude of Ecumenical Patriarch Athenagoras in the face of the attacks.

2. The unfavorable international repercussions that would ensue from a forced physical exit of the Patriarchate.

3. The harmful results that would be created, because of possible United Nations or World Court action due to the fact that such an ouster would violate the Treaty of Lausanne which guarantees of certain rights of the Patriarchate in Turkey.

4. The danger that the Russian Orthodox Church would seek to establish its authority by a seizure of the empty Patriarchal Seat, thereby proclaiming itself as 'Protector' or Eastern Orthodoxy and 'Ecumenical'. Under this pretext, the Russian Church could move boldly into the Middle East.

In reference to Cyprus, it is expected by some observers that Archbishop Makarius will appear before the United Nations in the foreseeable future to lay the Cyprus problem before it, for solution. - ED.

GREEK SYNOD DEVELOPING A SCHISM. With the resignation of the internationally famous Professor Hamilcar Alivisatos, of Athens, from the secretaryship of the Inter-church Aid & Foreign Relations Committee of the Greek Orthodox Church, the Holy Synod was forced to appoint another in his place.

Professor resigned in protest against a resolution of the Holy Synod forbidding clergymen to participate in meetings of the World Council of Churches. In its ruling the Holy Synod said that lay theologians could represent the Church at such ecumenical conferences. (cont.)

The action by the Synod not only brought about Professor Alivisatos' resignation, but also a united protest from three of the most prominent professors of the University of Athens, namely= Basil Vellas(former director of the Apostoliki Diakonia, which is the 'Home Mission' dep't of the Synod), Constantine Bonis, and Gregory Konidaris.

Archimandrite Damaskinos Papachristou was named to replace Prof. Alivisatos in the foreign relations post.

- At a time when internal harmony is paramount, this appears to be an unfortunate blunder by the Synod in not effecting a more up-to-date attitude on its relations with the World Council. - ED.

WORLD COUNCIL INTER-CHURCH AID CONFERENCE HELD IN ENGLAND. The annual conference was represented by some 150 delegates from 35 countries. Among other things discussed, a series of projects suitable for aid were recommended.

Efforts to re-open the Theological Seminary in Madrid were reviewed. The Seminary had been closed by Spanish authorities, who said it was unlawful. A kindergarten was proposed being established in the industrial section of Vienna; rebuilding of five Eastern Orthodox Churches in Greece, which had been destroyed by earthquakes; establishment of a fishermen cooperative at Gobindasri, East Pakistan; reading classes for children in Hong Kong; and construction of a hospital in Saigon, South Vietnam - - all these were recommended for support, by the Committee. TREMENDOUS GROWTH IN JEWISH DAY SCHOOLS IN AMERICA. The Rabbinical Council of America reported, at its annual convention at Fallsburg, N.Y., that some 40,500 pupils are now enrolled in 227 parochial schools thruout some 26 states. The schools operate on a yearly budget of $10,000,000.

There were only 17 such schools in this country in 1935.

Dr. Joseph Kaminetsky, executive director of the Nat'l. Society for Hebrew Day Schools urged the American Orthodox Jews to spend an additional $25,000,000 next year to strengthen Jewish education. He proposed that the money be spent to help set up day schools in new suburban areas, to develop teacher-training institutions, to obtain more text and work books, and to develop more effective parent education programs.(The Council represents Orthodox rabbis)

SERBIAN PRIEST HEADS LAKE COUNTY ORTHODOX CLERGY ASS'N. The Rev. John Marceitch of St. George Serbian Orthodox Church in East Chicago (Indiana), was re-elected president of the Ass'n. for the third time. The Rev. Simeon Mihaltian of St. George Romanian Church in East Chicago was chosen vice-president; and the Rev. Stephen Jula of St. Nicholas Church was re-elected secretary. The Rev. Louis T. Greanias of St. Demetrius Hellenic Church in Hammond was elected treasurer.

The association is composed of the priests of the 14 Eastern Orthodox Churches in Lake County (Indiana). As such, it has sponsored a weekly radio hour, held several combined Vespers Services in different cities, conducted an Orthodox rally at the Hammond 'Civic Center', and is now planning an Eastern Orthodox basketball tournament this autumn in Gary, Indiana.

EASTERN ORTHODOXY NEARING NATIONAL RECOGNITION AS MAJOR FAITH. With the recent passage of Florida State House Concurrent Resolution #211, in which the Legislature formally recognized Eastern Orthodoxy as a Major Faith, along with Protestants, Jews and Roman Catholics, it brings closer the ultimate day when National recognition will be rendered to Orthodoxy, as well. As stated in the Palm-Beach 'Post-Times': 'Historically, as well as spiritually - is borne out the fact that the Eastern Orthodox Church, even though the youngest in America, is known in ecclesiastical circles as the oldest apostolic church in the world.'

Almost simultaneously, in the State Capital of Ohio, two Orthodox clergy, among others, took their place before the Governor of Ohio (O'Neill) as he signed Senate Joint Resolution #1, by which: 'Resolved, that the Orthodox Church is recognized in the State of Ohio, that all references to the major faiths, now limited to Protestants-Catholics-Jews, include the Orthodox Church, and that all media of communication and individuals are requested to include the Orthodox Church when referring to the Major Faiths'. The signing of this bill marks the first time in the history of Ohio that a church has become a major faith by an official act of the General Assembly.

According to Orthodox Church census, there are 877,334 members of the faith in Ohio. There are more than 18,000, with seven churches, in the Akron area. Close to 6,500,000 Orthodox are within the borders of these United States, divided as they are among the various National Jurisdictions.

Fathers Kobbs and Bartz were the two Orthodox clergy most vitally concerned with achieving the formal Ohio recognition. The Bill had been sponsored by Senators Carney and Olenik and Representative T.L. Thomas. Legislative agent was Mrs. Suzanne Hughes, who was honored for her intensive work on behalf of the recognition.

The U.S. Armed Forces, some months back, accorded Eastern Orthodox Servicemen the privilege of carrying the letters 'E.O.' on their 'dogtags'. However, in most all formal actions only Protestant, Catholic and Jew are recognized as 'Major Faiths'. It is this 'formal' recognition which is sought by Orthodoxy, for it is neither Protestant nor Roman Catholic. If the tem Faith were of sufficient numbers in the U.S. it also should be accorded similar cour-Orthodoxy seeks only equal rights and opportunity that are accorded to other bodies.

States have already recognized Eastern Orthodoxy as a Major Faith, but far more only cognize' the Church in a legal fashion; e.g.- the Church may incorporate Religious Bodies in the borders of the State in question. The ability to merely 'incorporate' is not recogn as a Major Faith. To further clarify: Major Faiths in this country are not legalized by Federal Law, but only by 'habit'. For instance, if the Federal Government, as have some State Governments, commence reference to Orthodoxy in official papers-releases-etc.
being a Major Faith, then Orthodoxy 'by habit' will become known as such. The U.S.O., h deals with Servicemen, never refers to Orthodoxy in its publicity - nor does the Red ss, etc. The Boy Scouts of America recently changed their approach to this problem, and now included Orthodoxy as such, along with Moslem and Buddhist. Publicity will bring t 'recognition', even more so than legislation.

CONGREGATIONS UTILIZING SAME BUILDING FOR WORSHIP. The Presbyterian or Temple in New York City now has ten religious bodies utilizing its facilities. Besides form and Conservative synagogue, there are Italian and Spanish-speaking Protestant ps, a Russian Christian Church, a Ukrainian Orthodox Church, and Russian, Estonian and inian Seventh-day Adventist Churches.

latest addition, the tenth, is the Byelorussian Autocephalic Orthodox Church, headed by op Vasili. This 150 member congregation was displaced from its previous meeting place East Side Orthodox Church. On its arrival in the new quarters, the congregation was by the leaders of the other nine groups and tendered a warm welcome.

PORT ON CHAPLAINS FOR 1956. Some 840 Navy Chaplains were ective duty during 1956, with 152 serving with the Marine Corps and h the Coast Guard. These Chaplains conducted a total of 161,911 seres, which were attended by 10,518,281 officers and men. 18,192 baptisms held(6,308 of them being adults); 5,077 weddings and 4,283 funerals.

Chaplains also delivered character education lectures, accompanied ompanion films; choir rehearsals, hospital visitation, home and pri-visits completing some of the tasks assigned to these men.

INARY ENROLLMENT ON INCREASE. Enrollment in theological seminaries and in bols of religious education increased 2.3% in 1956-57 academic year, according to the t of Education(U.S.). There was a decline, however, in enrollment of 1st year students.
l enrollment was 35,190(28,821 males and 6,369 females). These figures do not include schools as are an integral part of graduate divisions of major universities, but only schools that are separately organized as independent institutions.

ive a comparison between such religious-type schools and total college and university llment for all classes, it can be noted that 1956-57 totals showed 2,946,985 men and womrolled. Thus, it is readily seen that religious pursuits(on college level) amount to about % of total enrollment.

With religious 'majors' amounting to only 1.25%(approx.) it can be understood why only about 60-70% of the population fall into the classification of 'formal' church-goers. As is well-known, a great many registered church-goers are only this in name. The item which follows indicates one educator's thoughts on this matter. - ED.

GAINS IN CHURCH MEMBERSHIP DUE TO QUEST FOR 'RESPECTABILITY'. According to Dr. Ronald E. Osborn, professor at Butler University School of Religion, the United States is not turning to religion as strongly as rising church membership figures would seem to indicate.

The professor added that churches have become an acceptable pattern of American life at a time when the pressure to conform is a powerful force. Therefore, he said 'one cannot be sure whether an applicant for church membership is seeking salvation or social respectability'.

In addressing executives of the Disciples of Christ national agencies in a recent Chicago, Ill. meeting, Dr. Osborn emphasized that altho religion appears to be on the rise, 'religious considerations have less and less to do with decisions that really determine events in contemporary society'. He added that 'Christianity has become a prevailing cult in America and getting baptized is most likely to be a routine act of social conformity'.

STATISTICS ON RELIGIOUS CONTROL OF COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES IN U.S.A. A total of the 1,886 colleges and universities in the U.S. are controlled by religious groups, according to a report from the U.S. Education Office.

There are 474 Protestant colleges and universities; 265 Roman Catholic; 5 Jewish. An additional 481 colleges and universities are under private control, but have no religious affiliation. 661 colleges and universities are publicly owned and controlled, including 282 municipal institutions, 330 State colleges and universities, and 10 Federal ones.

Co-educational institutions number 1,414, while 223 colleges enroll only men and 249 only women. About 500 of the institutions are not fully accredited four-year colleges.

GOVERNORS LIST THEIR FORMAL RELIGIOUS AFFILIATION. A survey conducted by the Washington News Bureau of the Methodist Information Service revealed that all but one of the Governors showed a readiness to indicate their religious affiliation.

One Methodist, 8 are Baptist, 7 are Episcopalian, 6 are Presbyterian, 5 are Roman Catholic, 1 are Lutheran, 2 are Congregational Christian, 1 is Jewish, and 1 is a Mormon.

The Methodist Division of National Missions showed in a recent study that the Methodists are the predominate Protestant body in 16 States; 2nd place in 21 States; and among the first four in the remaining 11 States.

THE 'IRON CURTAIN' REFUGEES ARE COMMUNISTS, is the claim made by five free Protestant Churchmen, who are on a nationwide tour sponsored by the fundamentalist American Council of Christian Churches.

Five touring churchmen are the Rev. Roman K. Masierski of London, superintendent of the Polish Reformed Church in exile; Rev. B. Sklokenbergs, pastor of the Latvian Evangelical Church in London; Rev. O. Konrad Veen of Estonia, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Stockholm; Rev. John Bojchuk, former head of the Baptist Church in the Ukraine; and William Kovach-Bela, a Hungarian theological student.

Their statement touched off a series of protests from church groups which had been interested in the relocation of Hungarian refugees in Colorado. (The charge was made in a Denver speech).

CANON ARCHBISHOP DECRIES ADVERTISING OF 'OFFERINGS FOR MASSES'. Archbishop William O. Brady, Roman Catholic, of St. Paul (Minn.) archdiocese, has requested his clergy to 'ignore' all magazine advertisements from 'Mass Leagues', 'Mass Foundations', 'Mass Associations'.

The Archbishop wrote in his weekly column in the Catholic Bulletin that he fears 'many people respond to such advertisements expecting that their offerings will be accepted as gifts for Masses to be celebrated'. 'But', he said, 'the fine print promises only a remembrance in our prayers and that, beloved brethren, you already have every day from every priest who celebrates Mass anywhere and at any time.....(so) if you wish a Mass to be offered, then ask such a priest where you can see the priest accept it, where you know he will record it and where you understand that both priest and archbishop are careful to make the records, check the records and discharge them.....'

The Archbishop termed the advertising as 'abuses', which have crept into the system under the lay people make offerings for Masses.

Canon 23 of the Ecumenical Council of Trullo, 692 A.D. specified that 'No one.....shall exact.....fees of any kind. For GRACE is not to be sold, nor do we give the sanctification of the Holy Spirit for money.....' Perhaps the Archbishop should rather instruct his people to ask freely and the Church would render freely, according to the Spirit of Christ. If money were to be left out of Church Services, abuses would rapidly disappear. - ED.

NEW SEARCH UNDER WAY FOR ANCIENT TEMPLE OF JEROBOAM. Dr. James Kelso, professor of Archaeology and Semitics at Pittsburgh-Xenia Theological Seminary, left for Holy Land to resume his search for Jeroboam's temple in ancient Bethel.

This is the 7th time he has gone to the Holy Land to hunt for objects throwing light on Bible times. The professor said: 'I have tried twice to unearth Jeroboam's temple but have failed; maybe the third time will be a charm. If we hit the temple it will be sensational.'

Bethel is about 12 miles north of Jerusalem. It was the chief sanctuary of the Northern Kingdom of Judah following the secession of ten tribes under Jeroboam I, the rebel leader. Jeroboam built the temple as a rival place of worship to Solomon's temple in Jerusalem, capital of the Southern Kingdom of Judah after the break-up of the original 12-tribe nation.

Bethel faded from the map around the 8th or 9th century A.D., according to Dr. Kelso; the site is now covered with orchards.

In previous explorations, Dr. Kelso discovered portions of the winter palace of King Herod the Great near Jericho. Herod was ruler of Judea when Christ was born and ordered the infamous slaughter of the innocents.

NEW UPSURGE IN BIBLICAL MOVIES PLANNED. Movie studios, after turning out some 15 films in 1954 and 1955, are once again planning a series of films with religious themes. The renewed interest is due to the tremendous financial success of 'The Ten Commandments'.

Writers are at work on 'The Greatest Story Ever Told' for Darryl F. Zanuck at 20th Century Fox; 'The Galileans', a fictional treatment of Mary Magdalene at Universal-International; 'Ben Hur' at Paramount; 'Joseph and His Brothers' at Columbia.

CONGREGATIONAL, E & R CHURCHES COMPLETE MERGER. The historic moment of union occurred when 714 church leaders, half of them representing the Congregational Christian Churches and half the Evangelical and Reformed Church voted to become one body; the merger was then sealed with a prayer. In unison they said: 'We do now declare ourselves to be one body and our union consummated....in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit. Amen.'

The merger was in the making for 17 years and it marked a significant moment in American Protestant history, for never before had two denominations with different forms of government managed to unite.

Traditionally, congregationalism has maintained the independence and autonomy of the local church. The 'E & R' body is 'presbyterian' in nature, with government being vested in synods or presbyteries of local or regional make-up. Under the terms of the merger, each church will be free to choose whichever form it prefers.

There are 1,342,045 Congregational members in some 5,561 churches. The Evangelical and Reformed churches number 2,750 with 800,000 membership. The new body will be known as 'The United Church of Christ'.

Congratulations were brought to the new body by 30 representatives of other denominations and inter-church agencies. President Eisenhower also sent his official good wishes. The headquarters of the new organization will be at 257 Fourth Avenue, N.Y.C.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH MERGER ASSURED. By a vote of 161-124, the 99th General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church of North America approved merger with the byterian Church in the U.S.A. The Assembly thus assured the creation of a new denomination to be known as the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. with a membership of 300,000.

At the 169th General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. unanimously passed the merger proposal. The final meetings of the General Assemblies of both of the bodies will be held in Pittsburgh in May, 1958 when a combined Assembly will be formed.

The merger does not include the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.(Southern), which was formed in 1865 by the union of the Presbyterian Church in the Confederate States of America and the United Synod of the Presbyterian Church. It has approximately 500,000 members.

Need more be said?

THREE LUTHERAN BODIES TO MERGE IN MAY, 1960. A new Lutheran body of more than 2,000,000 members will be constituted at a convention in May, 1960 and will be known as the American Lutheran Church.

The three uniting bodies: the American, Evangelical and United Evangelical Lutheran Churches may be joined possibly by one or two other Lutheran groups by the time of the merger.

While this merger is taking shape, four other Lutheran bodies (United Lutheran Church in America, Augustana Lutheran Church, Finnish Evangelical Lutheran Church and American Evangelical Lutheran Church - total membership of all four is about 2,860,000) have formed a 'joint commission' for merger.

ARCHBISHOP MICHAEL PRAISES PRESIDENT EISENHOWER. In a speech in Montreal, where he attended a church building-drive for Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Church, Archbishop Michael said that the church-going practice of President Eisenhower has helped greatly in the revival of religion in America.

The spiritual leader of some 3,000,000 Greek Orthodox peoples of the Western Hemisphere said 'there is a great revival of religion in America and all the churches are doing their best'. He said he was very impressed with the success of Billy Graham's evangelistic crusade in New York but indicated that 'his approach is based too much on emotion. Nobody can leap and publicly declare that he has been saved. How can a person tell? Dr. Graham ignores true confession and real penance'.

A member of the denominational committee of the Visitation Evangelism of the Graham Crusade indicated that perhaps the Archbishop had failed to call to mind that the New Testament is replete with instances of 'instantaneous' conversion, most notable being that of St. Paul. - ED. (Mass conversion being epitomized in Pentecost itself)

IN THE COURTS

MOSCOW PATRIARCHAL CHURCH WINS
Court battle over control of St. Nicholas Cathedral in New York City.

By virtue of a court order, the Moscow jurisdiction retained possession of the property at 15 E. 97th St. N.Y. City. A group of anti-Soviet parishioners had sought to eject the Moscow adherents. The court held that the plaintiffs failed to establish grounds for ejection. The case has been in the courts for twelve years, has been in the State Court of Appeals twice and in the U.S. Supreme Court twice.

Following, herewith, is an abbreviated version of the actual court decision. Deletions of technical and other reference matter has been made by the staff of AREO to give this condensed

'St. Nicholas Cathedral of the Russian Orthodox Church of North America v. Kreshik' -

The Court of Appeals has ordered that at this trial the inquiry must be directed to 'the existence and status of the central church authorities in Moscow and their abilities to carry out effectively and faithfully the purposes of the religious trust.....to gather all evidence possible to entertain the views of expert church scholars, to analyze the available documents and of the law, to make findings of fact and to exercise sound discretion thereon, building up a record which is suitable for intelligent review and adjudication by the appellate courts'.

'What is at stake here is the power to exercise religious authority. That is the essence of the controversy' (Frankfurter, 344 US 94, at p. 157). Thus the technical question of who holds legal title to....the church is no longer important.....these temporalities must be administered.....for the beneficiaries for whom the trust was originally created' (306 NY 381).....Justice Reed, writing for the majority in the U.S. Supreme Court: There is no problem of title. It is the appellee corporation. This issue is in the right of use.

(Ed. Note: Here follows in the decision a recitation of evidence and views of witnesses, and with documented facts. Only a few of the highlights, deemed of most interest by AREO, are here given below -)

Testimony of the chief of the European law division of the Library of Congress....reveals that today Soviet legislation does not inhibit or touch creed, ritual, or selection of clergy .....and does the law require a loyalty oath to civil authorities, as required in Spain, France and Italy.....Seminaries are revived and monasteries, convents and theological academies are again operating. Churches formerly closed have been restored and reopened.....this court (cannot) conclude....that the patriarchate is a 'secular arm of an atheistic government bent on destroying the United States'. The evidence in this record does not permit such a judgement of opinion.....The experience of church history in many lands is ample evidence that the religious faith and its institutions outlast the transitory attacks of their individual exponents. The history of the Roman Catholic Church reveals many conflicts between church and state and many promises with state power, tacitly, if not openly, recognized.

.....pursuant to said Court of Appeals' direction, this court has deemed it unnecessary to discuss the defenses of laches and statute of limitations. Plaintiff has failed to establish adequate grounds for a finding in its favor, or for ejection.....It is the decision of this court that the Patriarchate of Moscow is the head of a functioning religious order and that St. Nicholas Cathedral of the Russian Orthodox Church in North America is under his direction. The present bishop designated to the cathedral is an American citizen, Dimitrius John Diachenko, designated as Archbishop Dionisius. His prior affiliation with....does not vitiate his appointment.....Judgement may be entered dismissing complaint. Submit findings, conclusions and judgement consistent with the foregoing by August 19, 1957.

According to local Press reports, Philip Adler, counsel for the defendants, hailed the decision as a victory for religious freedom. He said it showed the relation between church and state Soviet Union did not affect ecclesiastical rights under the U.S. Constitution. C.H. Tuttle, counsel for the plaintiff, said he assumed there would be an appeal.

Another N.Y. State Supreme Court legal battle, between a Russian Archbishop and individual members of an independent Orthodox Church, the same Philip Adler, counsel for the plaintiff, lost an appeal before the Appellate Division. The defendants, represented by Leo Kravitz, 369 Lexington Ave. N.Y.C., as counsel, won a resounding unanimous verdict upholding the original decision of Justice Walter. The published brief, of defendants' counsel, gave a thorough refutation of Adlers arguments and by its apparent astuteness swept all before it. Copies of this original decision of Judge Walter are available from AREO at 50¢ each).

SH LOSES APPEAL TO STAY OUSTER. Mr. Melish, 47, has been serving as supply rector at Holy Trinity Protestant Episcopal Church in Brooklyn, N.Y. for eight years. The congregation has been split over his alleged left-wing activities. He has denied, under oath, all charges. In the midst of this turmoil, two vestries, each representing the opposing factions, have been contesting for control of the church property. Pending in Brooklyn Supreme Court is a suit for control of $400,000 in parish funds.

A new ruling, by the Appellate Division of the Brooklyn Supreme Court, Dr. Herman S. Kohn, of Garden City, N.Y. will replace Dr. Melish as lawful rector. This ruling was a reversal of the original order handed down by Supreme Court Referee John MacCrate, who had granted a permanent injunction against Dr. Melish, last September. The referee had based his decision on the Religious Corp. Law of the State of N.Y. - the Appellate Division based its decision on General Canon #11 of the Episcopal Church. As the law and the canon are contradictory, the Appellate opinion clarified by stating:

When there is before a civil court for determination a dispute between factions of a religious congregation concerning an ecclesiastical matter and the congregation in question subordinate member or part of a general church organization in which there are super-ecclesiastical tribunals, the weight of authority in this country is that whenever the dispute has been decided by the highest of these church judicatories the legal tribunals must treat such decisions as final and as binding on them in the application to the case before them.

A final appeal to this decision will be heard in the Fall term of the Court of Appeals as to whether this ruling of the Appellate Division is final.

CONVICTION OF MARINE PRIVATE SET ASIDE. The conviction of Marine Pvt. Peter H. Green of Evanston, Ill. by a court martial at Camp Pendleton, Calif. for refusing to accept a rifle after he decided he was a conscientious objector was set aside by his commanding general.

Maj. Gen. R.H. Ridgely, Jr. dismissed the charge of wilful disobedience and assigned the youth to non-combatant duty. The Private had been sentenced to four months hard labor and forfeiture of $55 a month from his $83 monthly pay. He is a Methodist and had several Methodist clergymen appear at the trial on his behalf. During the trial, Bishop Gerald H. Kennedy, who was testifying, was called a 'creep' by one member of the Court Martial Board, a certain 1st Lt. Merrill Jacobs. He was challenged for cause and removed from the Board thereafter. The remaining members of the Board refused to continue for mistrial, stating that they were not biased by the remarks of the young Lieutenant. However, they did convict the Private and their decision was proven erroneous by the reversal of the decision. The General made the reversal on grounds of fact that the Private's status as a C.O. had not been determined at the time the order had been given to him to accept a rifle. This obviously shows that the Board improperly reviewed the facts of the case in determining their decision.

For a judge to render a proper decision it is imperative that he be emotionally detached and non-prejudicial to the defendant; in addition, to openly discuss a trial, on which a verdict has not yet been rendered, and term a witness a 'creep' certainly is prejudic and the Court Martial Board should be censured itself for allowing a junior member not have been instructed regarding ethics and procedure. - ED.

N.Y. COURT OF APPEALS UPHOLDS BAPTIST TAX CLAIM. The Court of Appeals Albany upheld an Appellate Division ruling that the N.Y. Baptist City Society was entitled real estate tax exemption for 1952-55.

The State's highest tribunal turned down an appeal by the N.Y. City Tax Commission, which had argued that the Society's Judson Student House had taken in roomers, who paid for the rooms, even though they were not pursuing theological courses, and that therefore they had violated their exemption status.

The Appellate decision had earlier held that the Society should have full exemption because 'it clearly appears that the exclusive use of the premises was in furtherance of the mission program of the realtor'.

THE SCHISM OF THE ROMAN CHURCH

JOHN N. KARMIRIS

PROFESSOR IN THE UNIVERSITY OF ATHENS

EDITOR'S NOTE = The following is Part II of an abstract of an address delivered by Prof. Karmiris in Athens on January 30th, 1950. Part I appeared in the May issue of this publication.

Unfortunately, the reconciliation and communion between the two Churches, which was attained by the initiative of Photius, did not last for long. The schism of the Roman Church, which began in 867 at the time of Photius, on the responsibility of Pope Nicholas I, was destined to be completed in 1054 during the patriarchate of Michael Cerularius.....Nicholas' successors, the Popes of Rome, who were ardent devotees of the absolute primacy and undesirous of rectifying the Pope's great sin against the Unity of the Church, continued his same policy of attempting to dominate and subdue the Eastern Church. Besides, they permitted the multiplication of Latin innovations.....Filioque now became a fatal schism-making element in the same way as it did at the time of Photius.....Besides, Pope Sergius III (904-911) dared to make a new anti-ecumenical intervention.....by confirming the 4th marriage of emperor Leo VI, the Wise, which was not permitted in the East, and releasing him from the excommunication which the Patriarch Nicholas Mysticos had imposed upon him. All these things intensified the growing tension which came to a head in 1054.

Pope Leo IX.....chiefly gave occasion for the completion of the schism. In fact, Pope Leo IX, together with his cousin the emperor of Germany, Henry III, sought first to extend his sovereignty over southern Italy, which belonged to Byzantium. He....introduced...Latin customs....abolished the Byzantine archdiocese of Sipontus...deposed her archbishop, effecting also other similar interventions.*

Towards the same Pope,....sent.....to the Patriarch Cerularius a very long.....insulting letter, in which,....he seized the opportunity to present the papal primacy in a form worse than Nicholas I had done. He asserted that the bishop of Rome is infallible and by divine right possesses double authority, ecclesiastical as well as political.....citing almost the entire 'Gift of Constantine' to prove it.

It was the first time that the astonished Eastern Church heard these things which were contrary both to the letter and to the spirit of the Gospel, namely, that the Pope is infallible and that he is the source of all power.....the Patriarch Michael Cerularius, who had not failed to send his enthronement letter to Rome according to ancient custom, answered the arrogant letter of Leo IX.....to whom he expressed his sorrow for the division of the Church. He thus opened the door open for reunion.

Pope Leo IX, however, was unsatisfied with this and sent a delegation to Constantinople for ecclesiastical reasons**, members which were Archbishop Peter of Amalfi and the deacon and the cellarer Frederick. This delegation was under the leadership of the rude and intolerant Cardinal Humbert, 'an ambitious man, intriguer and devotee of the papal claims'. Humbert Patriarch Cerularius considered it his duty to oppose these measures. Accordingly, he closed the Latin Churches and monasteries in Constantinople, which were imparting Latin customs to the Orthodox thru propaganda. See Stefanides 'Church History' p.345.

This papal representation had been asked for by the emperor Constantine the Monomachos, chiefly for a political reason, namely to discuss and reach an understanding on the Byzantine papal possessions in Italy, which were being threatened by the Normans. Humbert...probably without the approval of Leo IX, gave it also an ecclesiastical character.

....on behalf of the Pope, composed his letters of introduction to the Patriarch and emperor. In these he included a long and....groundless indictment against Cerularius; as for example that the latter ascended the patriarchal throne anti-canonically, supposedly being a neophyte. This was inaccurate, and so were other similar accusations. Having arrived about the end of March or early April of the year 1054 in Constantinople, Cardinal Humbert immediately began political negotiations with the emperor for the purpose of making an alliance between him and the Pope against the Normans, who were threatening the papal and Byzantine possessions. As a result, he postponed for a considerable time his visit to the Patriarch, against whom he let loose a violent polemic all the while that the delegation was in Constantinople. When at last the papal legates decided to call upon the Patriarch, they displayed to him, as well as to the emperor, an indecent attitude and behavior unbecoming to clergymen....'conducting themselves with pride and impertinence'.....Almost simultaneously, news arrived that Pope Leo IX had died on the 13th of April, 1054. Consequently, the delegation had lost its authority until a new authorization be given by the Pope to be elected.

For these reasons and moreover because the Patriarch found the seals of the papal letter tampered with - which fact made him suspect its entire content as not genuine - thus he deemed it right to discontinue communion with the papal legates, and decided to discuss and co-operate with them only in a synod and in the presence of the Orthodox hierarchs and the representatives of the other Patriarchs. This claim....the papal legates rejected....and....boldly and irreverently entered the church of Hagia Sophia on the 16th of July 1054, during the celebration of the Divine Liturgy and placed upon the altar a blasphemous writing, with which they excommunicated the 'whole church of the Orthodox' and chiefly the Patriarch Michael for other reasons, but particularly because 'they did not want to shave their beards similar to the

I am clean-shaven
and am holy before God .

I am bearded and have a wife and family as therein follow God's Command.

Latins, nor did they discriminate in partaking from married priests, but even offered eucharist (i.e.- leavened bread) and in the Creed failed to use the 'filioque' (i.e.- 'the Holy Spirit proceeds from the Father and the Son').

These were the chief but groundless accusations and explanations of that unbecoming and desperate step of the Latins.....

After this ....unheard of and impious venture of the Latins, and in the midst of common indignation and uprising of the Orthodox, the Patriarch Cerularius called together instantly on the 20th of July, 1054 a resident large synod, which put under anathema the 'sacrilegious and abominable document' that the Latins had thrown upon the holy altar, as well as those who wrote it and consented to it. Excommunication of the Pope, however, was avoided. Thus, one door was left open for reconciliation and reunion....the Patriarchates of Alexandria, Antioch and Jerusalem sanctioned this...decision of the 20th of July and....eliminated the Pope's name from the dyptichs and discontinued communion with him, the Church of Russia following suit. Thus, both Churches, Eastern and Western, officially and mutually denounced each other....

The Latin excommunication originated from one of the two following sources: either directly from Pope Leo IX, as the Orthodox Synod of July 20th, 1054 tells us on the basis of the papal legate's admission.....or, indirectly from the delegation, which must have acted on the basis of a special order or wide authorization of Leo IX.....In either case, the guilt of Rome is obvious....inasmuch as she did not consider it her bounden duty to invalidate officially in general synod....the anti-canonically and unjustified excommunication. On the contrary she approved it and since then has retained it.

These two causes (i.e.- Papal claims to infallible supremacy and political primacy) provoked the completion of the schism....while, on the contrary, the chief dogmatic differences do not n to have played at that moment a serious role, except for certain liturgical differences customs, which were thrown into the center of the principal dispute.

we think no doubt can remain in the mind of the inquirer, who searches for and judges historical facts objectively and without bias, that the true and real cause of the division the Church was the.....evolution of the Papacy with its absolute primacy, its...heterodox hings and its ecclesiastical-political pursuits.

behind the ecclesiastical events which took place during the 9th and 11th century, stood the ism and ecclesiastico-political imperialism and totalitarianism of papal Rome. Driven by e same motives, she likewise stood behind the so-called Crusades and the Crusaders, who years later overthrew the Byzantine empire and subjugated the Orthodox East ecclesiasti- y and politically, causing countless, inexpressible sufferings.....(thus)....religious (and).. ical reasons played an important part in the opening and perpetuation of the schism..... e Church of the Papacy 'the conceit of worldly power had begun to slip in under the pre- e of a divine service'.....the Papacy, having tried unsuccessfully until the end of the century to subjugate the Orthodox East ecclesiastically and politically in a peaceful way, ord and persuasion and ecclesiastical synods, subsequently attempted to succeed by e, i.e.- by the wars of the Crusades. And lastly, from the conquest of Constantinople it sought the same aim thru the deceit of Uniatism and various other deceptive means of aganda which are used for the proselytism of Orthodox people.....Consequently, the f responsibility for the ecclesiastical schism....lies with these two Popes (Nicholas I and IX) and their successors. ***

...impartiality compels us to confirm that the Orthodox Greeks of that time were distin- ed for the strength, depth, purity and stability of their faith, though they extended it to rent ecclesiastical ceremonies and customs, expanding it more than was necessary.

...Brotherly hate and religious and racial fanaticism replaced love between Christian bro- rs.....Mark of Ephesus....before the Synod of Florence (said): 'The Roman Church' had rooked love, and peace was thus dissolved' between the Churches.

oubtedly, the Patriarchs Photius and Cerularius were roused up principally against the acy - its monarchy and impetuous and tyrannical despotism -.....Those Orthodox riarchs did exactly what all the great reformers of the Western Church did later.....as example the conveners of the reforming Latin Synods of Piza, Constance and Basel, the so- ed precursors of the religious Reformation, the reformers of the 16th century who were ut Luther, Zwingli and Calvin, the French theologians of the 17th century with the German ops of the 18th century and the Old Catholics of the 19th century, to omit the rest.

fact that the laity of the Orthodox Greek nation sensed and intimated in time the double ger from the Papacy against its ecclesiastical and national independence and autonomy is ed worthy of special praise.....This explains why the Orthodox Greek people took the d in the opposition of the Orthodox Catholic Church against papal expansion and totalitar- ism during the opening of the schism in the 9th and 11th century, during the time of the usades and the domination of the Franks in the Orthodox East, and after this in the initia- which was undertaken purely for political reasons by the last dynasty of Palaeologus ards 'union' with Rome. As characteristic examples we limit ourselves to mentioning the ular uprising against the unionist Synods of Lyons in 1274 and Florence in 1439 and against Byzantine emperors Michael VIII and John VII Palaeologus who had participated in them sonally or thru their representatives and finally the popular uprising in Constantinople inst the 'union' with Rome during the eve of the Turkish capture of Constantinople. Even ing the duration of the Turkish occupation and after it the distrust and opposition of the ek people continued against every 'unionist' effort or, more accurately speaking, prosel-

The Jansenists in their 2nd Council in Utrecht in 1763 proclaimed: a.-The Popes alone are pnsible for the opening and continuation of the schism of the two churches. b.-the Greek rson is not responsible as regards both these. c.-No Synod in which the Greeks did not ticipate is able to be considered as oecumenical, etc.

tytizing attempt of Rome and encroachment in the Greek East. Unfortunately, she sought this and continues to this day even in the center of Athens by different lawful and unlawful means by fraudulent intrigues and religio-political intermeddling and pursuits in the midst of Orthodox people, by her Jesuit and other monastic orders and agents, by her ecclesiastical and other institutions and above all by the treacherous proselytizing method of 'Unia', by which the so-called 'Uniate' clergymen travel 'land and sea to make one proselyte' orthodox...***

But, unfortunately, even today the Church of Rome, inspired by the idea of her oecumenical and the absolute papal primacy, has marked out and fanatically seeks to realize the well-known foreign policy of the Vatican, which consists in the subjugation and subordination of all Christian Churches, and by preference that of the Orthodox, under the power and 'absurd authority of the Pope'. Hence, in the Greek State itself, she strives to apply her politics (only 30,000 Roman Catholics living here), mentioned above, respecting neither the official Orthodox Church.....nor the sovereign rights and laws of the State.....

We have examined....the separation of the Roman Church.....We have tried to show that Papacy was chiefly responsible for the outbreak of the schism as it is also responsible for the Crusades and its increasing expansion up to this day at the expense of local Orthodox Churches. Besides the purely human claims of the Bishop of Rome, stated earlier, concerning primacy, an objective and unprejudiced examination....forces us to recognize that this schism was generally due to many and various causes, but pre-eminently to the racial, political and economic differences, to the pursuits of individuals and peoples on both sides, to individual differences in the variety of intellectual and psychological inclinations and tendencies, to a different understanding of the Christian faith and life, as well as to the imperfections and deficiencies of human nature, to the lack of Christian love, and to human sin under its various forms and expressions, especially to the arrogance, desire for power and pursuit for primacy, pre-eminence and precedence, etc.....

We believe that the breach separating the two sister Churches is not completely unbridgeable but, on the contrary, must be bridged. Whatever that lack of Christian love and human sin has separated, particularly the desire for power.....Christian love and brotherhood must reunite.

Fortunately, it seems that on the part of both Churches, consciousness of unity between them has not been lacking.....during unionist conversations the entire question of the union of the Orthodox and Roman Church must be put on a new basis.....Both have to oust every posterior element which was unknown and is irreconcilable with ancient and common ecclesiastical tradition.....Above all, both Churches must seek true dogmatic and internal unity, full unity in the faith, to include all the fundamental truths of divine Revelation and especially those concerning the head and infallibility of the Church and to exclude only the liturgical and administrative differences and peculiarities of each which are not connected with dogma.

According to Photius: 'whenever that which is violated is not the faith, nor is a fall from the common and catholic decree, because other customs and laws are kept by others, he who knows how to judge rightly should not think that they who keep these fall into injustices, or that they who do not accept them violate the law'.

Personally we believe that under these presuppositions and conditions our own Orthodox Catholic Church of the East would not deny co-operating sincerely with the Roman in order to adjust by 'oeconomia' the existing differences and to re-establish the harmony, love and unity between the two sister Churches, so that.....again 'they may be one'.

****To achieve this end, the following were founded: 'Congregatio de propaganda fide pro negotiis ritus orientalis' by Pope Pius IX in 1862; 'Congregatio de rebus Graecorum' by the Pope Gregory XIII(1579-1585); 'Congregatio pro Ecclesia orientali' by Pope Benedict XV in 1917, which functions to this very day; and an official organ, 'Congregatio de propaganda fide' founded by Pope Gregory XV in 1622. He arranged that its work be the spreading of the Christian faith also in the Orthodox Christian East.....as recorded in the official document for its founding: 'remain now in a state of stupidity, have undertaken almost the nature of wild animals and are maintained only to serve for the population of the inhabitants of Hades for the sake of the devil and his angels'.

THE ADVENT OF THE SAVIOUR, OGAMISAMA, AND HER PROPHECY OF GOD'S KINGDOM

Place: The Isles of Japan - The Time: 1945, just prior to the end of the War.

Southern Japan in the village of Tabuse in Yamaguchi Prefecture, lived Sayo Kitamura, the wife of a farmer. In the midst of national defeat and utter confusion, her voice began to cry the message of God. Three years of utter religious austerity preceded this metamorpho-

At the beginning, her sermons were mainly on the streets and were in extemporaneous hymns. She rapidly became popular throughout the countryside. On July 22, 1945, she invited her friends and neighbors to her home and delivered sermons to them for the first time. From that day on she began to give sermons to all who came to her home. She announced she was the Saviour and had begun her sacred mission of establishing God's Kingdom. Her followers increased daily. They named her: 'Ogamisama' (The Great One)

Her sermons developed around simple ideas; for instance - 'Look at the past. All professional religionists have become more and more corrupt.....They have built idols and beautiful cathedrals.....but have nothing to offer but idealism and imagination.....the time of theory is past. The present age calls for the practice of God's Teachings.....the world has collapsed because of egotism....everyone thinking of nothing but his own benefit.....renounce egotism and be redeemed'. And again: 'I have not descended to redeem all human souls. I have come to judge this collapsing world.....I have established policies thru which every human being shall choose of three alternatives: i.to be punished in public disgrace ii.to suffer capital punishment in heaven iii. or to become an angel, who , in free and undisturbed services, is guided by Ogamisama says: 'God in my body says I am Buddha, Jesus Christ, and myself. I am evil; these are: regret, desire, and being free of these six roots of evil, temptations which assail people and Ogamisama prohibits the building of churches, and a follower's home is used as a meeting place. There are no priests or preachers; each person is disciplined with his fellow man; each neighbor, but only if done with discipline.

In 1947 Ogamisama's religion was recognized, as required by law. She gave her religion the name: Teachings of the Absolute. Branches have been established in many communities, even to Hawaii and North America. Many have heard and followed her. She means and necessities with her, and a penny from you, there would be no need for you to hear my sermons, money or donations. You have been redeemed by God freely; there is no need for missionary work. In the 'professionals' who make a living by it. All my followers must serve God, whilst working in their own occupations'.

registered formally with the government the name 'Tensho-Kotai-Jingu-Kyo' the true God of the Universe. Branches exist in many communities. Ogamisama has visited many countries in her spreading of her message. In traveling she always takes her money for, as she says: 'If I were to demand be no need for you to hear my sermons, money or donations. You have been redeemed by God freely; there is no need for missionary work. In the 'professionals' who make a living by it. All my followers must serve God, whilst working in their own occupations'.

Here, then, is the birth of an interpretation of Religion, as seen thru the mind and eyes of a farm woman, who has performed miracles-healings, who has delivered uncounted sermons on truth, as she sees it. She has followers and numerous branches thru which her words and teachings are disseminated. What will be its eventual end? - ED.
